Concept & aesthetics

Founded in Milan in 2009 by experienced designers, design studio Fattorini (Bruno Fattorini was in charge at MDF Italia for 12 years) + Rizzini + Partners creates contemporary pieces for numerous European and American manufacturers.

They are characterized by a global design approach which takes into account not only aesthetic considerations but also technical constraints and market expectations. They have been awarded a number of international prizes, amongst which the Interior Innovation Award – Best of the Best – 2012.

Thanks to its reinforced structure, the Dehors table gives a great impression of visual lightness despite its generous solid ceramic top. The brand of minimalism under consideration here is the expression of creative maturity through the extreme simplicity of perfectly-mastered forms. Its four legs, discreetly positioned at the corners, bring elegance and finesse whilst optimising the available space for those sitting at the table. Space is further optimised by the quarter-turn rotation of each of the legs, which lends a pleasant, dynamic asymmetry.

Those same people sitting at the table also benefit from a comfortable width of 100 cm which is particularly generous for an outdoor table. Offered in 3 shades, all of which are coloured to the core, the ceramic stoneware in use here offers a surface which is 30 % harder than granite. Its properties of mechanical, chemical and thermal resistance are exceptional, thus making it particularly suitable for use on a very exposed and well-used indoor/outdoor tabletop (sun, storms).

Quality of manufacture

Indoor/outdoor dining table with structure comprising a white lacquered stainless steel base reinforced with nickel-effect anodised aluminium crosspieces. Top in ceramic stoneware in a choice of 3 colours: white, white marble-effect and metallic anthracite, resistant to scratches, stains and thermal shocks.
